Graduate Recruitment Team

Maven Capital Partners

Glasgow

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to ask to be considered for a graduate investment analyst role in Glasgow. I am a final-year Economics student at the University of Strathclyde, graduating in summer 2027 with a predicted 2:1. Maven's position as one of the most active private equity investors in UK SMEs, with offices in Glasgow and Edinburgh and a Scottish investment team of twelve, makes it the firm I would most like to learn from without leaving Scotland.

My preparation for investing has come from taking deals apart. As co-founder and Treasurer of the Strathclyde Agricapital Society, the university's first agri-finance society, I grew membership to 126 and led weekly research sessions on transactions such as Olam Agri's USD 1.24bn stake sale to SALIC, breaking down why the buyer wanted the asset, how the deal was structured and how the stake was valued. My strongest academic results reflect the same interest: 90% in first-year Finance and 78%, the second-highest mark, in a third-year group project for Advanced Corporate Finance and Financial Markets.

Private equity appeals to me because the investor owns the outcome: the thesis has to be delivered after the deal closes, not just argued before it. I have seen that side at a small scale. As Head Mixologist at Le Set, a new 200-cover Glasgow venue, I created its house cocktails, set the specifications for its classics and trained around 15 bar staff to deliver them from launch. Before that, at KONG, I analysed sales patterns and refined our upselling prompts, raising average customer spend by an estimated 25%. Both roles taught me that value is created in execution: in standards, training and small commercial decisions that compound.

Maven stands out to me because it backs growing businesses across Scotland and the UK through a range of funds, with 2026 investments including Xentra, Texture Jet, Esk Live, Third Space Learning and Kani Payments. I know from building the Agricapital Society how much a small team relies on people who will take on research and analysis without being asked twice, and I would be glad to support your deal team from Glasgow in any graduate or analyst capacity.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my application. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Yours faithfully,

Will McGowan
